Prototyping in libraries: collective resolution of challenges using Design Thinking methodologies

Design Thinking dialogues very well with current reconceptualizations about what libraries are and where they are going and their capacity to lead processes of cohesion and social transformation.

The general objective of this workshop is to provide participants with basic tools in Design Thinking, so that they can experiment in their libraries with this innovation methodology.